Dear Vice Admiral Miller:

On behalf of the NCAA Division I Committee on Athletics Certification, I am writing to inform you of deliberations completed by the committee as part of its February 16-18, 2011, meeting. The committee reviewed all written materials related to your institution's athletics self-study. I am pleased to inform you that the committee determined the U.S. Naval Academy has been certified.

Consistent with procedures adopted by the NCAA Division I membership, the decision of the committee will be announced publicly through a standard press release the morning of Thursday, March 10.

Your institution's communications coordinator can help facilitate the communication of this information to your local media, the educational community and other interested parties. A member of the NCAA's public and media relations staff has been in touch with your communications liaison to coordinate the NCAA release with any local or regional release your institution may have planned.

Please contact Troy Arthur or Charnele Kemper, staff liaisons to the committee, at the NCAA national office if you have questions concerning actions of the committee or about the athletics certification program in general.

Finally, in order to help us improve the athletics certification program, an electronic evaluation will be forthcoming. We would appreciate you taking the time to provide your feedback.

On behalf of the other members of the committee, I hope your involvement in the self-study process was beneficial. Please feel free to forward your comments to Mr. Arthur, Ms. Kemper or me if you have suggestions for improving the process.

Sincerely,

Joanne Glasser, chair
NCAA Division I Committee on Athletics Certification
